HUNTER HOMES LAUNCHES NEW WEBSITE

Huntsville, Alabama - June 3, 2005 - Upholding their commitment to bringing the best experience and most current resources available to it's customers, Hunter Homes has launched a new dynamic website. The new website is tied into day-to-day processes and workflow of Hunter Homes' production cycles, therefore certain valuable information is always up to date - giving customers the ability to browse through home plans, communities, and plots without feeling like they're looking at outdated information. This, along with an eye-pleasing, easy-to-use interface, makes the new website a useful tool to customers in the homebuying and building process.

Hunter Homes plans to have many updates to the website over the summer to include many new features such as an Online Design Center, which will allow customers to pre-choose colors and styles for their new home.
